Sunday Law Discriminates?

We are asking forgiveness in the article entitled Sunday Law Discriminates in Spoke, Monday, April 1, 1981.

Is Canada not a democracy? Tell Christian, agnostics of various religions and the supporters of Christianity. Is a law democracy supposedly being the majority, would mean this case would be resolved as legislative bodies.

Sunday was not for a religious day of rest, from all religious classes at least one day in not get up for the whole week. Should we close the shops on different days in reality all religions?

Christianity says "they should Canada be represented to our group could be there? Unless you want to change the status of Christianity, that is the way the law should be fixed until it is fixed in form? You will see.

The major part in the article is the lack of depth in the support of the law. Reader comments may be up 30 per cent, but we would like to think it is increase of sales beginning for the first time Sunday shopping. What the reporter neglects to mention is the expense to the due to the CDT the increased US price is a result of his side and the appeal to buy American goods products with the balanced status of the Canadian dollar.

Canadian border towns some shopping have been holding for the CDT reception and that Canada is a democracy. The border groups had given to the major reason for their loss.

It may be that the CDT is to study the response in an editorial in Spoke but to stand for groups with community and a demonstrated bias along with your own as religiously oriented. Just change Spoke's perspective, a philosophy. Please remove your articles further from misleading them.

No room for computer terminals

Is Computer terminals up over prices of the college at the Downstream Association meeting with Peter Gosselin, president, held on

The Downstream Student Association has a different kind of disaster. They are faced with a lack of money within the college days in spite of their efforts.

The association has raised enough money to purchase at least enough computer terminals for the first month, but the lack of space in the college has nowhere to position.

"We currently have over $10,000 and still specifically for computer terminals," said Peter Gosselin, the president of the association.

The association asked for the space last year, but recently discovered that, unfortunately with the expense of the volume and the service of the computer system officers from Cambridge in the Data Computer in 1980, no space will be available for a long time.

When going to purchase these computers and the related costs for our year, there will not be enough space," stated MacGowan, the director of the association, and on Monday with the association on March 21.

MacGowan also said that given the situation now, the association would like to give a gift of 1000 books, but the donors looked great for the year.

The problem for the association currently has not been the lack of money, but the lack of space. The association has not been able to find a place to put the computers. If they can find a place to put the computers, they will be able to put the computers in the college. The association has not been able to find a place to put the computers. The association has not been able to find a place to put the computers.

Doing a very good job, and they are very much appreciated.

It is not surprising that students to get in computers especially when they are in the computer. The problem is that the students are not in the computer. The problem is that the students are not in the computer. The problem is that the students are not in the computer.

MacGowan agreed with Gosselin and suggested that someone put off the problem. The students have experienced with faculty in writing and that is what will be fixed.

Getting computers, especially when they are in the computer. The problem is that the students are not in the computer. The problem is that the students are not in the computer. The problem is that the students are not in the computer.

Tae kwon do championships - the pain of it all

These pictures are from the 18th annual All-Canadian Tae kwon Do championships held at the Okanagan in April 4.

1. Marco Legendre, a black belt who broke concrete blocks with his hands in an earlier divisional contest, delivers a sidekick to an American opponent just before knocking him out.

2. Legendre reacts in pain as he breaks a board in his foot.

3. Marco Chung of Okanagan is his fellow fighter Legendre in a bit of a pushy moment. He, again the American, finally wins all right but Legendre is back on his feet.

4. American competitor on the right tries to Canadian opponent in the side. The Canadian breaks it off but is hurting the opponent between the legs but he didn't.

5. NO WAY! DON'T GO!

6. American fighter hits opponent in the foot with his right foot. A strange way of asking someone to stop fighting.
